

Environment Policy

At SPFA we acknowledge our environmental stewardship and that improvement in environmental protection is of benefit to the global effort.

We are aware that in the course of our day to day operations, and throughout the lifecycle of our products and services, that there is the potential for an environmental impact.

We commit to maintaining and improving our ISO 14001:2015 certified system and work to promote environmentally conscious and sustainable practices, both within our organisation and in our interactions with our stakeholders through;

- The conservation of natural resources by reducing, reusing or recycling waste where economically and environmentally sensible (3R approach)
- The selection, purchase and use of materials, where economically and environmentally sensible, that provide the smallest environmental footprint.
- The use of environmental risk assessments to ensure we understand the aspects and impacts of our business methods
- The active encouragement and support of initiatives by our suppliers to reduce their environmental impacts.
- A commitment that all employees receive environmental training and communication appropriate to their role and responsibilities.
- The review of this policy via internal environmental audits at least every 6 months.
- The compliance with relevant environmental legislation, regulations and other requirements in the markets in which we deal.
